Advice for Baillie Lodges guests

It's wonderful to be able to travel again after a pause due to the pandemic and we're looking forward to welcoming you to stay at Baillie Lodges. We have compiled the following information as a guide for preparing to travel safely and as advice for action in case you or your companion tests positive to Covid-19 during a stay at Baillie Lodges.

Please note it's each of our individual responsibility to stay up to date with current regulations and to act with the safety and wellbeing of fellow guests and the broader community in mind. Please see useful links below.

If you are travelling to Australia from overseas, information from the Australian Government on travel to Australia can be found here and for flights and mask wearing here. Handy FAQs for international travellers are available here.

For travel within Australia, the State and Territory specific requirements which vary across the country can be seen here. Masks are required to be worn at all times in airports and on flights.

Preparing to travel

Please note, it is highly recommended to have an up-to-date travel insurance policy which covers Covid-19 when travelling to or around Australia.

Please ensure you have ready access to your electronic copy (on your phone) or paper of your current complete vaccination certificate. Please note there are separate regulations relating to children aged 12-17 and for those with medical exemptions.

It's helpful please to also bring a personal supply of Rapid Antigen Test (RATs) for your trip in case you are feeling unwell.

In the interests of all travellers, we would appreciate it if you would complete a self-administered Rapid Antigen Test 24 hours prior to leaving home. If you are unwell please advise the Baillie Lodges reservations team asap. We recommend not travelling if you are unwell.

Testing positive during your stay at Baillie Lodges

If you test positive to Covid-19 during your stay you will need to complete a mandatory seven-day isolation period as per Australian Government Regulations.

The Baillie Lodges reservations team will assist you in securing your isolation accommodation and making any other travel arrangements as needed OR you can liaise with your travel agent for assistance.

Meals may be delivered to your suite and please liaise with the lodge team for housekeeping requirements as any washing can be bagged and left outside your door for collection.

Current regulations do not require travel companions who are not Covid-19 positive to isolate however we recommend companions continue to test and where possible stay in the suite and/or socially distance from other guests to minimise the risk of further infection.

Your travel insurance policy will be needed to cover any extra nights' accommodation at Baillie Lodges. We can provide invoices for accommodation to assist with the claim. Please note Baillie Lodges will not cover the cost of any other non-medical or medical costs associated with Covid-19, however the lodge team can assist with accessing medical assistance should it be needed.
